DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Specification

2. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification. Page 111 starting Table A-23 did not copy well and should be re-submitted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ehara et al in (600) view of Tsuchida et al 852. Applicants' claims are directed to a process for producing an electrophotographic member claims 1-29, the member produced by the process claims 30-31 and a photosensitive member having spherical protuberances removed claims 32-35. Ehara (600) teaches depositing a non-single crystal material composed basically of silicon atoms on a substrate in a deposition chamber. The substrate is taken out of the chamber and returned to have a subsequent layer formed on the substrate. The formed surface has protrusions note Abstract and Fig 9 – Fig 10 where polishing the surface will remove the protrusions. The sensitivity of a non-single crystal material is taught by Tsuchida et al who incorporate atoms capable of controlling its conductivity. The layer arrangement such as surface layer Col. 17 and charge injection blocking layer Col.22 would be specific to the element and not the process of making the photosensitive member. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicants' invention with a reasonable expectation of success to use the layered arrangement and materials that have known optical response in the process of using a second film forming chamber as taught by Ehara et al. Double Patenting

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claim 1 is provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-2 of copending Application No. 10/630727. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the exposing the substrate with the first layer formed thereon to a gas containing oxygen and water vapor is the same as taking the substrate out of the first chamber and exposing it to atmospheric air.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
